Bible Translation, Quality of Translation, conference attended by Jim Harries, December 2022.

https://youtu.be/_1Ju8bEsubY

Jim was one of about 60 presenters over 4 days of on-line conference 7th to 10th December 2022, on the theme of 'quality (Bible) translation. The event was attended by around 100 people. The vast majority had professional roles in Bible Translation organisations. Jim's paper was the second last in the whole event. His promotion of vulnerability for some Bible Translation projects was well received and caused significant discussion.

A recently published article by Jim Harries. ABSTRACT A critique of the imposition of technical biomedical solutions on cultures with relational worldviews, and some of the pitfalls of international global health solutions are presented from an East African context, toward a "middle road" approach which considers relational and spiritual world views as a localized approach to global health, with examples from the COVID-19 pandemic. (Harries, Jim, 2022, 'Biomedical services' fit amongst people with relational worldviews, and a "middle road" Short Communication / Field Report, Christian Journal for Global Health 9(2), Dec. 2022. 28-31.)
